Sarala Birla to get Rajasthan Foundation award

Kolkata, May 26 Social worker and businesswoman Sarala Birla will be conferred the "Pravasi Pratibha Puraskar" by the Rajasthan Foundation for her contribution to the social, cultural and academic fields.

Vice President Bhairon Singh Shekhawat will present the award here May 31.

"She is a shining example for today's women and their need to create own identity. She is not only a businesswoman but also a well-known social worker," said Rajasthan Foundation secretary Sundeep Bhutoria.

He said Shekhawat's presence would be a great boost to the Rajasthan Foundation's Kolkata chapter as it is still in its nascent stage.

"The chapter has great plans for focused social service in future and for that it needs the patronage to firmly stand on its feet," Bhutoria added.

The Rajasthan Foundation is a NGO established by the Rajasthan government. It works as a bridge between Kolkata and Rajasthan. Rajasthan Chief Minister Vasundhara Raje is its chairperson.

Apart from the Non Residential Talent Award 2007, the 'Haldi Ghati Award' will be given to Sardamal Kankaria for his contribution to the fields of accessorial service and education.

A local group, Marudhara, would be conferred the 'Dharti Dhora Ri' Award for its constant effort to promote Rajasthani Art and Culture in Kolkata.

Grim Foundations

2007-05-25 12:10:00

When the men repairing Edo Castle after the earthquake of 1923 lifted one of the four stones, they found a group of human skeletons crushed beneath it. The skeletons were with their hands in an attitude of prayer, and gold coins were scattered over their heads and shoulders. The skeletons were those of servants of the Tokugawa shoguns, the most powerful family in Japan. When the castle was built (it was finished in 1640) the servants had volunteered to be buried alive in the belief that a building constructed on living flesh would be impregnable. A Frenchman, Francois Caron, reported in the 17th century that: 'The workers lay with joy to the designated place and, lying down there, allow the foundation stones to be laid upon them.' Many similar stones may still be seen today by the castle's Hirakawa. But nobody knows how many bodies lie beneath them or beneath Japan's other castle foundations.

As promised, my focus in May is on three makeup makers: Benefit, FACE atelier and Addicts. And why not get started at the foundation...literally?First up is Beauty Addict Mineral SheerTINT SPF20. A favorite of Oprah's, A lovely light-to-medium coverage, I moisturizing and oil-free 'foundation.' So many tinted moisturizers tend to leave me (or a lot) greasy, but not Mineral SheerTINT...just nice, even and natural coverage. It don't get me wrong, this 'foundation' is not drying, nor is it flat. It adds just the right of moisture and radiance. My favorite feature of Mineral SheerTINT is, in fact, the downright glow-y. It mirrors your skin perfectly while giving a just-right amount of coverage. Plus, it has a very lovely subtle shimmery quality. Beauty Addicts' Mineral SheerTINT is perfect for those days when you want a no-makeup look (while still hav nice boost of color and coverage). $35Next up is FACE atelier's Ultr...

Review - Maybelline superstay silky foundation*2007-05-03 17:25:00*

A while ago, my friend Amy recommended Maybelline superstay silky foundation to me. I was complain about another liquid foundation I was using. Few weeks later, I love the product so much that I have to share it with all of you. First is first, my skin condition (I am Asian so my skin tone is more yellowish.) sensitive, breakout, oily in summer and dry in winter. (The worst you could imagine.)I don't even wearing makeup too much because it is hard for me to find the right product. It's extremely frustrating when it comes to foundation. I have few problems with most foundations: 1. They make my face shine in summer and they show my dry skin in winter. 2. Most of them worsen the break outs. They usually need to reapply every 6 hours. (esp. in summer) 4. Some of them make skin irritating. I was brave enough to buy Maybelline's new superstay without even trying. I consider I've never been a fan of their brand. (I've only owned their eyelash conditioner)

Shekhawat wants focus on poor

BS Reporter / Kolkata June 01, 2007

Vice-President Bhairon Singh Shekhawat emphasised the need to provide basic education and healthcare facilities to the people living below the poverty line.

The Vice-President was speaking on the occasion of an awards ceremony organised by the Rajasthan Foundation.

Shekhawat conferred the 'Pravasi Pratibha Puraskar' on Sarla Birla, distinguished social worker and businesswoman.

Noted fashion designer Anamika Khanna was also felicitated by Shekhawat.

The Non Residential Talent Award-'Haldighati Award' was given to Sardamal Kankaria while Marudhara, a local group bagged the 'Dharti Dhora Ri' Award for its constant effort to promote Rajasthani Art and Culture in Kolkata.

Shekhawat called upon the Rajasthan Foundation to institute an award in recognition of the selfless service to the poor.

The other dignitaries who were present on the occasion were Digvijay Singh, Member of Parliament, Hashim Abdul Salim, the speaker of West Bengal assembly, Abdul Sattar, the state minority affairs minister and BK Birla.

About 26 crore people in India live below the poverty line and they are devoid of proper education and healthcare facilities, he said.

There is a strong need to set up schools and educational institutes where poor children can study, Shekhawat said.

"We should also build hospitals where people living below the poverty line can get treatment", he added.

Shekhawat stresses on poverty alleviation in India

Posted June 1st, 2007 by Tarique

India News

By IANS

Kolkata : Vice-President Bhairon Singh Shekhawat Thursday said the development of the nation should include upliftment of the underprivileged section to bridge the gap between the rich and the poor and break the urban-rural divide.

About 260 million people in India are still living below the poverty line and grapple with the scourge of malnutrition, illiteracy and disease, Shekhawat said while attending a function here organised by the Merchants' Chamber of Commerce (MCC).

"We need development that eradicates literacy, a development that provides the common man with access to basic education, healthcare and shelter so that the poorest of the poor can enjoy their fundamental rights to live with dignity," he added.

He also expressed anguish at the widening of the urban-rural gap and interregional disparities.

"We need a better environment of governance that provides efficient, hassle-free and corruption-free delivery of services and goods. We need to empower our people to take advantage of the opportunities that are rapidly arising across the world," Shekhawat said.

The vice-president also attended the annual programme of the Kolkata chapter of the Rajasthan Foundation in the evening and conferred the Pravasi Pratibha Puraskar award to social worker and businesswoman Sarala Birla for her contribution to the social, cultural and academic fields.

KOLKATA: Vice-President Bhairon Singh Shekhawat on Thursday said the development of the nation should include upliftment of the underprivileged section to bridge the gap between the rich and the poor and break the urban-rural divide.

About 260 million people in India are still living below the poverty line and grapple with the scourge of malnutrition, illiteracy and disease, Shekhawat said while attending a function here organised by the Merchants' Chamber of Commerce (MCC).

"We need development that eradicates literacy, a development that provides the common man with access to basic education, healthcare and shelter so that the poorest of the poor can enjoy their fundamental rights to live with dignity," he added.

He also expressed anguish at the widening of the urban-rural gap and interregional disparities.

"We need a better environment of governance that provides efficient, hassle-free and corruption-free delivery of services and goods. We need to empower our people to take advantage of the opportunities that are rapidly arising across the world," Shekhawat said.

The vice-president also attended the annual programme of the

Shekhawat underscores need to combat poverty at all levels

'The poor don't need foreign medicines; they need a basic diet to keep them fit'

Express News Service

Kolkata, May 31: The Vice-President, Bhairon Singh Shekhawat, who was in the city today, emphasised the need to fight poverty at all levels and allow people to live with dignity.

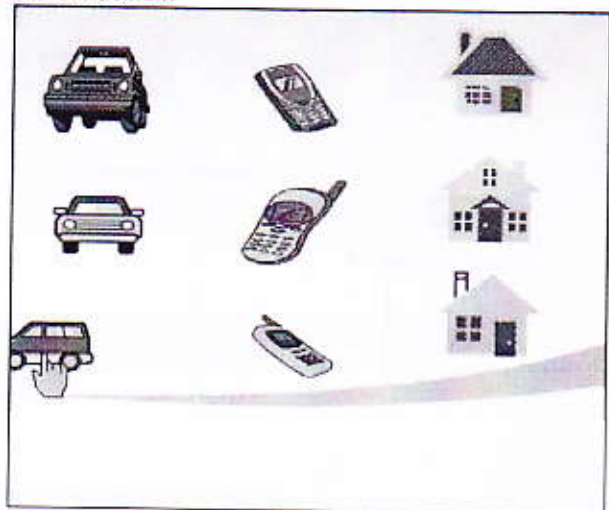

According to Shekhawat, there are 26 crore people living below the poverty line in the country and there are very few health and educational institutions catering to their needs. "The poor don't need foreign medicines; they need a basic diet to keep them fit," said Shekhawat.

Shekhawat was the chief guest at a function organised by the Kolkata chapter of Rajasthan Foundation to felicitate the outstanding contribution of Marwaris living in Kolkata. The Vice-President expressed anguish that though minerals like oil, coal, and natural gas have been found in Rajasthan, no entrepreneurs are coming forward to invest in the state.

Shekhawat said that in order to make employment generation more meaningful it should be complemented by technical education, which would lead to greater empowerment. Citing an example from his own tenure as chief minister of Rajasthan when he had allotted Rs 17 crore for buying books and uniform for poor children, Shekhawat said that more such efforts are required for poverty alleviation in the country.

The Vice-President said that Rajasthanis have moved in search of greener pastures to all parts of India, but the existing gap between Rajasthani

Shekhawat gave away the Pravasi Pratibha Puraskar to Sarala Birla for being a patron of arts, and her contribution to social work. Fashion designer Anamika Khanna won the Marudhar Gaurav Samman for taking Indian fashion to the world. Marudhara, a cultural organisation, won the Dharti Dora Ri Samman for spreading Rajasthani culture, tradition and arts in distant lands while Sardarmull Kankaria won the Haldi Ghati Samman for his contribution in the field of health.

With today being Anti-tobacco Day, the Speaker of the state Legislative Assembly Hashim Abdul Halim urged people from the Marwari community to refrain from using tobacco and encourage greater fusion between the Marwari and Bengali communities. "Marwaris are playing an important role in the trade and industrial resurgence of West Bengal," he added.

Industrialists Harshvardhan Neotia, B K Birla and state minister for minority affairs Abdul Sattar were also present in the function.

Sarala Birla to get Rajasthan Foundation award

Social worker and businesswoman Sarala Birla will be conferred the "Pravasi Pratibha Puraskar" by the Rajasthan Foundation for her contribution to the social, cultural and academic fields.

Vice President Bhairon Singh Shekhawat will present the award here May 31.

"She is a shining example for today's women and their need to create own identity. She is not only a businesswoman but also a well-known social worker," said Rajasthan Foundation secretary Sundeep Bhutoria.

He said Shekhawat's presence would be a great boost to the Rajasthan Foundation's Kolkata chapter as it is still in its nascent stage.

"The chapter has great plans for focused social service in future and for that it needs the patronage to firmly stand on its feet," Bhutoria added.

The Rajasthan Foundation is a NGO established by the Rajasthan government. It works as a bridge between Kolkata and Rajasthan. Rajasthan Chief Minister Vasundhara Raje is its chairperson.

Apart from the Non Residential Talent Award 2007, the 'Haldi Ghati Award' will be given to Sardamal Kankaria for his contribution to the fields of accessorial service and education.

A local group, Marudhara, would be conferred the 'Dharti Dhora Ri' Award for its constant effort to promote Rajasthan Art and Culture in Kolkata.

'We need a better environment of governance that provides efficient, hassle-free and corruption-free delivery of services and goods. We need to empower our people to take advantage of the opportunities that are rapidly arising across the world,' Shekhawat said.

The vice-president also attended the annual programme of the Kolkata chapter of the Rajasthan Foundation in the evening and conferred the Pravasi Pratibha Puraskar award to social worker and
